New Educator - Course Outline

Naandi Foundation conducted a series of 15 day long training programs, as a Mahindra Pride Classroom Project in collaboration with Chetana Education, for B.Ed students.

Module	Objectives	Description	Class Duration
Module 1: Planning for a learner-centric classroom 	Identify learner needs Understand what is Active learning and its benefits Recognise that everyone has different learning styles Understand Multiple intelligences theory; Recognise the significance of using Bloom's Taxonomy for lesson planning Comprehend factors to consider in planning learner centric lessons Ensuring alignment of assessment with objectives and teaching and learning activities	An important step in growing as a facilitator of active learning is understanding learner needs and planning lessons to meet those needs. This module will introduce teachers to multiple learning styles and theories, which will help them understand their students better, and to Bloom's Taxonomy, which will help them create strong objectives for their lessons. This is surely a go-to course for anyone who wants to start learner-centric planning in their class.	6 hours synchronous + 2 hours guided self-learning
Module 2: Facilitating an enabling Learning Environment 	Analyse teacher's own attitudes and values towards learning; Align class values with school values Recognise need to set expectations and basic norms of behaviour with students Create shared systems, routines, structures and procedures in the class fostering intrinsic discipline Build relationships with and among children	Building a strong classroom culture is a process. It is also the foundation for strong teaching learning practices within the classroom. This topic thus, delves into breaking down the components of culture within the classroom and helping teachers with practices that create an open, safe, nurturing and enabling classroom environment, where children feel motivated, energetic and ready to learn with one another.	5 hours synchronous + 1.5 hour guided self-learning
Module 3: Literacy Across Curriculum 	Reading Strategies: Recognise the need for specific reading strategies before, during and after reading Plan for and apply suitable reading strategies Writing Strategies: Recognise the need for different writing strategies to suit audience and purpose To be able to plan for and apply appropriate writing strategies	The Module aims at introducing teachers to the concept of Literacy across curriculum. This module will give teachers a hands-on experience of applying various reading and writing strategies which can be used across many different subject areas across grade levels. It will help them design and conduct engaging lessons by incorporating the strategies shared.	5 hours synchronous + 2 hours guided self-learning

Module	Objectives	Description	Duration of Synchronous classes
Module 4: The 21st Century Educator: Developing into a lifelong learner 	To understand the need to be a lifelong learner in the 21st century To identify and differentiate between growth mindset and fixed mindset. To adopt growth mindset language as the basis to be a lifelong learner To reflect on one's own learning styles, practices of learning and mindsets To explore ways in which and sources from which one can continue to learn To be able to set goals for professional development, measure their achievement and push goals further to ensure extending one's potential To learn to be proactive about learning, overcoming barriers and extending one's own learning	In this module, the trainees are made to reflect on the need to be life- learners, and to look within to discover their own learning styles and mindsets towards learning, and explore new and appropriate methods to keep learning in the 21st century.	5 hours synchronous + 1.5 hour guided self-learning
Module 5: Taking teaching/learning and assessments online 	To enable teachers to become familiar and comfortable with online teaching and learning Introduce teachers to a range of online platforms and tools to make learning engaging for students of different age ranges Enable teachers to use synchronous and asynchronous modes appropriately and make learners responsible for their learning	This module provides trainees the exposure to Google classroom, various tools of G-suite, and other platforms and tools like Padlet, Mentimeter, Zoom, etc. to enable effective teaching and learning, using a blended approach of synchronous and asynchronous sessions. It enables them to learn to use break out rooms effectively for group discussions, and conduct various other interactive online activities.	4 hours synchronous + 2 hours guided self-learning
Module 6: Trauma Responsive Classrooms 	Identifying and exploring one's own social emotional status, especially during this time of world crisis Learning to be empathetic to students and peers Learning to adopt a non-threatening, accepting attitude towards all students Enabling students to express their emotions safely in an accepting class environment Developing in students the practices of mindfulness and empathy to cope with stress Moving from empathy to compassion to fellow human beings and other creatures	The need to keep compassion central in the classroom in the post-pandemic world is vital. This topic helps trainees to prepare themselves to create classroom routines and to hold spaces for children to express freely and feel a sense of safety during and after the pandemic, both in an online and face to face mode of learning, when schools reopen	5 hours synchronous + 1 hour guided self-learning
Total number of hours:			40
